In the Hustings Court.

There were only two judgments granted in the Hustings Court yesterday, the time of the court being occupied with the trial of a damage suit brought by Susan Gary against Cornelius Lane, charging him with uttering slanderous statements about her character, for which she wanted damages. Both parties are colored residents of Peach hill, where Cornelius owns considerable property.

The cause of the trouble was brought on by a quarrel about some ducks that trespassed on Lane's property. A jury was impaneled, and after hearing the evidence, retired but did not arrive at a verdict, and was continued over until this morning. Captain Berkley appeared for the plaintiff and W. A. Glasgow, Jr., for the defendant.

Austin-Allen.

At the residence of the bride's mother, at No. 711 First avenue n. w., Wednesday night at 8 o'clock, Frederick Austin and Miss Mary D. Allen were united in marriage, Rev. W. F. Hamner officiating. The groom is a popular Norfolk and Western railroad conductor, and the bride is one of Roanoke's most accomplished young ladies. After the ceremony an elegant collation was served to the select party present.

EXCELSIOR!

The best is always the cheapest. Don't spend your money for cheap and trashy shoes when you can buy a good reliable article for but little more. Our lines of footwear comprise the best makes in the country, and our prices are all that any reasonable person could ask. "Cheap" shoes are dear at any price. But when reliable and honest shoes are offered you at reasonable prices why do some people prefer to buy trash? Come and see for yourselves.
